

Jeff Newman (He/Him/They) has been active in Autistic advocacy for the past 20 years. He is the Vice President of Strategic Operations for Our Own Lives, non-profit providing a full range of Home and Community Based Services to people with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities. The name Our Own Lives reflects the disability advocacy value that “we are all experts in our own lives” and reflects our mandate to provide services that honor and respect the persons autonomy and values, platforms and empowers the disability community to support and build up each other, and include a critical mass of disabled people at all levels of the organization in employment, stakeholder, management, leadership, and executive roles.

jnewman@communityconnectionsco.org